PALESTINE DISORDERS INCREASE AS ARABS RIOT AND STRIKE

THRILLING MIMIC NAVY WARFARE

Realistic Displays In The Basin.

HONG KONG'S NAVY DAY A GREAT SUCCESS

Destroyers in action; formation flying and aerial acrobatics; an howitzer crew working under field conditions. These were but a few of the thrills provided for the Hong Kong public, yesterday, when for the first time, they were afforded an opportunity to inspect the various types of fighting ships of His Majesty's Navy.

Only the tiny river gunboat, H.M.S. Seaweed, with her bridge sheathed in awnings, and the submarines in dry dock, were closed to the huge crowds that thronged the Naval Yard throughout the afternoon.

H.M.S. Eagle stole the show. From the opening of the gates until "Beat the Retreat," the decks of the giant aircraft carrier were packed with a jostling throng. The steep companion ways and the narrow passages were totally inadequate to cope with the crowds, and despite the excellent arrangements, hundreds were compelled to wait until the passages were cleared.

SINO-JAPANESE RELATIONS.

Mr. Ariyoshi Denies Rumours.

MILITARY NEGOTIATIONS

Peking, Yesterday. An emphatic denial that he was engaged in negotiations with the Chinese and of the statement that Japan did not favour direct negotiations with China, but preferred to dispose of the Sino-Japanese problems piecemeal, was made by Mr. A. Ariyoshi, Japanese Minister to China, to-day.

He said that the only negotiations now in progress were between the military authorities and included postal affairs at Shanghai, the establishment of customs stations on the Great Wall and the withdrawal of the Japanese inside Manchukuo.

He opined that, if Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's anti-Communist campaign proved unsuccessful the Reds might penetrate as far as the Yangtze valley, with disastrous results.—Reuter's Pacific Service.

THE ATTEMPT ON DR. DOLLFUSS.

Alleged Complicity Of German Princes.

SENSATIONAL DISCOVERY IN STYRIAN CASTLE

Vienna, Yesterday. A sensational discovery, which is alleged to connect two German Princes with the recent attempt on the life of Dr. Dollfuss, the Austrian Chancellor, was made this afternoon in a raid on the castle of Princes Rannier and Ernst of Sachsen-Coburg-Gotha at Schladning, Styria.

A letter was found from Kurt Dertill, brother of Rudolf Dertill, the would-be assassin of Dr. Dollfuss, begging for financial support, the purpose of which is not yet clear. Kurt Dertill has been arrested.—Reuter.

FEAR OF STERLING-DOLLAR DEPRECIATION WAR

Sir Robert Horne Warns U. S. Government

New York, Yesterday. A warning against a sterling and dollar depreciation war, which, he said, would prompt Britain to do something to defend her trading position was given by Sir Robert Horne in a speech here, in which he discussed the National Industrial Reconstruction Administration's gold scheme and suggested an informal understanding with a view to limiting the disparity between the two currencies.—Reuter.

T. V. SOONG RESIGNED 3 DAYS AGO

Mounting Financial Difficulties.

WANG PERTURBED

Shanghai, Yesterday. The report that the Chinese Finance Minister, Mr. T. V. Soong, had tendered his resignation earlier in the week, has now been confirmed. His resignation is due to the mounting financial difficulties of the Government.

Mr. Wang Ching-wei and Marshal Chiang Kai-shek are now exchanging telegrams with the Finance Minister, pressing the latter to withdraw his resignation.—Reuter.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S SUDDEN RETURN

Nanking, Yesterday. Following the report that Mr. T. V. Soong, the Finance Minister, is tendering his resignation, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, who has been directing the anti-Red campaign in Kiangai for a considerable time, returned to the capital by air to-day from Nanchang.

On his arrival he immediately drove to Mr. Wang Ching-wei's official residence, where he had a long conversation with Mr. Wang on important problems.

The results of their conversation will be submitted to an urgent meeting which is to be held by the Central Political Council to-morrow.—Central News Agency.

POLICE FIRE ON MOBS

ARAB STRIKES IN HAIFA AND JERUSALEM

Roads Blocked By Burnt Motor-Lorries.

TROOPS STATIONED AT VITAL POINTS

Haifa, Yesterday. The police here were to-day compelled to fire on a mob of Arabs who were attempting to rush the main station on the occasion of the arrival from Jaffa of the prisoners arrested during yesterday's rioting. Several persons were wounded.

The timely arrival of police reinforcements prevented damage to the main station, which now presents a warlike appearance. Troops are stationed on the roofs.

The Arabs have blocked the roads with burnt motor-lorries and the position is aggravated by a general Arab strike, affecting shops and taxis. The harbour work is unaffected. Meantime, a curfew has been declared.

Trouble is also threatening at Acre.

Jaffa is quiet, but tension remains very high among the sullen crowds. It is feared that the disquieting news from Haifa will cause a recrudescence of Friday's riots which broke out following the formation of a procession in defiance of the order issued by the High Commissioner of Palestine, Lt.-General Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope.

Troops are standing by the strategic positions and also at Nazareth and Safed.

Armoured cars and troops are patrolling the streets of Nablous, where one rioter was killed yesterday, following a mob attack on the railway station.—Reuter.

Firm Steps Taken In Jerusalem.

Jerusalem, Yesterday. A general strike was declared here to-day. All Arab shops are closed and no buses are running. The Government has taken firm action in arresting members of the Arab Executive.—Reuter.

A pretty double wedding took place at the English Methodist Church, on Tuesday last, when Mr. Peter Cheung (left) was married to Miss U. O. The photograph shows the two happy couples after the ceremony.

LANCASHIRE AND INDIA

Delegates Pleased At Negotiations.

PREFERENCE FOR BRITISH COTTON

Bombay, Yesterday. The Lancashire cotton delegation called for England, yesterday after reaching an agreement with the Indian cotton merchants. Sir William Clare Lees, leader of the British delegation is most pleased with the result of the meetings with the Indian and Japanese industrialists.

The agreement with the Indian cotton merchants, which he should not publish until October 30, states that the Indian delegates have agreed that the industry requires a higher level of protection against foreigners than against the United Kingdom.

They will not make fresh proposals in regard to duties applicable to British cotton and piece-goods imports when the time comes for the removal of the surcharges on all imports, imposed in October, 1931.

The duty on British cotton-yards may be five per cent. ad valorem with a specific duty of 1 1/4 annas per pound.

The duties on British artificial silk goods may be 30 per cent. ad valorem or 2 1/2 annas per square yard for 100 per cent. artificial silk fabrics, or 2 annas per square yard on a mixture of cotton and artificial silk fabrics.

The duration of the agreement is limited to December 31, 1935.

War Debt Negotiations Reach Difficult Stage

Washington, Yesterday. Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, denies the reports that the Anglo-American debt negotiations are making no progress.—Reuter.

Washington, Later. During the suspension of the Anglo-American war debt negotiations the respective parties are strenuously endeavouring to bridge their differences. The New York Times correspondent considers that the question whether any British proposal is likely to be acceptable to President Roosevelt will be frankly discussed next week and a decision taken as to the advisability of further talks at present.

CURBING SPECULATION IN AMERICA

Roosevelt Will Ask Further Powers.

GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION OVER STOCK EXCHANGE

Washington, Yesterday. President Roosevelt is inquiring into speculation on the stock and grain exchanges, apparently for the purpose of curbing wide price fluctuations.

It is known that President Roosevelt is preparing to ask Congress for legislation extending the Government supervision over the New York Stock Exchange.—Reuter.

New York, Later. Disappointment that the new United States gold policy has not raised commodity prices appreciably is reported to be behind President Roosevelt's inquiry into the speculation on the stock and grain exchanges, according to Washington correspondents of New York papers.

The latest move is believed to be inspired by the desire to curb the wide price fluctuation resulting from pool operations or marginal trading on exchanges.

It is understood that data has been submitted to President Roosevelt, depicting the famous Chicago "Grain Pit" as an 80 per cent. speculation.

GERMAN STEEL AND COAL

Huge Rationalisation Scheme.

FOUR COMPANIES TO REDUCE CAPITAL

Berlin, Yesterday. A huge scheme, aiming at the rationalisation of German steel and coal interests, is under consideration by four of the greatest concerns.

The companies affected are the Vereinigte Stahlwerke, whose share capital is £38,750,000, the Gelsenkirchener Bergwerke, with £12,500,000 capital, the Phoenix Mining Company with £8,500,000 capital, and the Völklingen and Wismar Smelting Company, with £810,000 capital. The capital of the group would be reduced considerably under the scheme, which would be carried out by an exchange of shares. The total capital would be approximately £40,000,000.

A reduction of costs and the segregation of interlocking units is aimed at.

REICHSBANK POWERS ENLARGED

GERMANY'S MOVE IN FAR EAST

Closer Relations With Manchukuo.

GERMAN CONSUL CALLS ON JAPANESE AUTHORITIES

Harbin, Yesterday. It is learned on high authority that the local German Consul, acting on instructions from the German Government, called on the Japanese authorities on Thursday.

He is reported to have conveyed Germany's wishes to establish "special relations" with Manchukuo. He also expressed the hope that the Japanese Government would give assistance in the matter.

The Japanese authorities are reported to be favourable to his suggestion. Further conversation on this topic will be held at Changchun shortly.—Central News Agency.

MR. PANTER CHARGED

HIGH TREASON BY BRITISHER ALLEGED

"Unarmed" Nazis March With Rifles.

LOW'S CARTOON OF HITLER AT GENEVA

Berlin, Yesterday. The first German official reference to the arrest of Mr. Noel Pantar, the London "Daily Telegraph" correspondent in Munich, on a charge of high treason, is contained in a statement issued here to-day.

Pantar is suspected of trying to illegally obtain military news. The statement alleges that he has, at some time, been in touch with a German in Munich, who is accused of espionage, and has been sending atrocity stories abroad.—Reuter.

Inquiries are being made with reference to crimes which might result in high treason, proceedings.

The British Consul-General in Munich, Mr. H. W. Galsford, after visiting Pantar in gaol, is convinced that he is furnished with all the possible comfort for which he asked.

The British Foreign Office will not move in the matter until the receipt of the official despatch from the Embassy, which is expected during the week-end.

It is understood that a passage of Pantar's dispatch, describing the Nazis' review at Kelheim, said that thousands of "unarmed" Storm Troops marched past with rifles and fixed bayonets at the slope. He also stated that a salute of 21 guns was fired in Hitler's honour.

These facts, which were not contested, were also reported by other correspondents.

The London Evening Standard has been banned in Germany for a month owing to the famous cartoonist, Low depicting Chancellor Hitler standing near a bonfire outside the League of Nations building, saying, "It worked at the Reichstag, why not here?"—Reuter.

NEW CONSPIRACY IN MEXICO.

Anti-Government Plot.

New York, Yesterday. Several officers have been arrested in Mexico City in connection with an anti-Government plot.

Army officers have warned newspaper correspondents not to send news of the conspiracy. It is not believed to be a large cabal.—Reuter.

Chapter IX. — A DASH FOR LIBERTY.

(By GERALD BURRARD.)

THEY now passed a branch passage at the end of which was another lamp. There were doors on each side—obviously the lamas' cells. There were similar passages, each ending in a blank wall on which hung a lamp. These passages were getting lighter with every step, and the light was now that of the day, and not of any lamp.

Suddenly a great gong clanged out ahead. There followed a blare of horns and hoarse shouts. "Our escape has been discovered," was the Tibetan's explanation of the hubbub, "they will guard the gate."

Even as he spoke men came hurrying up the passage towards them. Their only chance was to make a bold front, but the Tibetan's nerve suddenly seemed completely to have deserted him. Geoffrey tried to push him on, but he refused to move. Three men rounded a corner and ran right on to them.

"The prisoners have escaped! Quick back, and we may find them," Geoffrey seized their guide, to turn him round, but the man was quaking with fear and seemed rooted to the spot. One of the men approaching saw his hesitation, and again shouted to him to turn, but the hesitation proved fatal.

More men rounded the corner and one of them carried a torch. There was a sudden yell as they recognised the Tibetan guide, whom they apparently knew well. They surged forward to recapture their prisoners.

Geoffrey yelled, "Back, back along the passage. It is your only chance," and fired at the leading man, a lama. The shot echoed and re-echoed along the narrow corridors, and the lama fell in a struggling heap. There was an answering shot, and Geoffrey felt a heavy body fall in front against him. His newly-found Tibetan ally had been shot through the head.

"Back, back, I tell you," he called to Mr. Merridew. "I will hold them here."

"No, we will not leave you." The enemy had been momentarily checked, but now they made out. Geoffrey returned their fire a rush, and two more shots rang and another lama fell. Then he turned and, seizing Phyllis by the hand, hastened along the passage in the direction whence they had come, with the missionary just ahead of them.

Their pursuers were momentarily checked in the narrow way by the dead bodies of their comrades and the escaped Tibetan, but their yells showed that they were not far behind. Geoffrey called, "Stop when you reach the 'Tiger's' door. It is our last chance."

They sped past the three side-passages along which were the lamas' cells, back towards the flickering light which marked the entrance to the "Tiger's" den. He flung himself at the great door. It was locked. "Here, I have some keys," Mr. Merridew spoke quickly and yet calmly, but as the words left his lips their pursuers rushed into view. Geoffrey plucked the lamp from its bracket and hurled it in the faces of the leading lamas. As the lamp fell on the floor it flared up for an instant, and Geoffrey fired—once—twice. At each shot a man fell. Then there was darkness.

"Keep low down. They will probably shoot high," and as he spoke Geoffrey pulled Phyllis down. A regular volley broke out, but the bullets went harmlessly up the passage above their heads. The slabs of flame momentarily dazzled Geoffrey, and he made no attempt to return the fire. He had now but three cartridges available. He could hear more men crowding up from the temple gate. They shouted to the ones in front to go on, but the leaders had seen Geoffrey's certain aim, and held their ground.

Before Geoffrey could answer, a light shone from along the passage, silhouetting the leading Tibetans. "Open the door and dash in directly I fire."

In another moment the rays of the advancing light would fall upon them and betray their position. Geoffrey could plainly see a big man against the light. He fired again.

Mr. Merridew opened the door; he, Phyllis, and Geoffrey flung themselves through and banged it to. On the inside there were two big bolts, and these they shot home as their enemies hurled themselves impotently against the other side. For the moment they were safe.

Chapter X.

THE "TIGER OF TIBET."

ON looking round Geoffrey and his companions found themselves in a vast hall which seemed to have been cut out of the foundations of the great mountain. In length it was about a hundred feet, and it much have been fully half as broad, but it was not more than ten feet high. The hall was lit by a great skylight similar to those let into the ceiling of the saloon of a big liner, and Geoffrey wondered how it had been brought to this remote corner of the earth. The floor was covered with rush mats and the walls hung with Tibetan trappings. At one end was a large table and some chairs, but other furniture was conspicuous by its absence. Behind the table there was another door.

Philip Hayde Thompson.

"Come," said Geoffrey, "there is nothing to be gained by waiting here. They may get the door down in time, although it is pretty strong. Let us see what is beyond that door."

It was locked, but Mr. Merridew at once produced the keys which he had taken off the dead Tibetan and soon opened it. On crossing the threshold they found themselves in a very different sort of compartment. Much smaller, it was richly and luxuriously furnished; but like the hall, it was lit by a skylight in the ceiling. The soft carpet could only have come from Turkey. The trappings on the wall were of almost priceless Tibetan silks. A big fire blazed invitingly on a large hearth, and Geoffrey again wondered as to how the wood had been brought to that barren, treeless country. A heavy writing-table

NOTOX

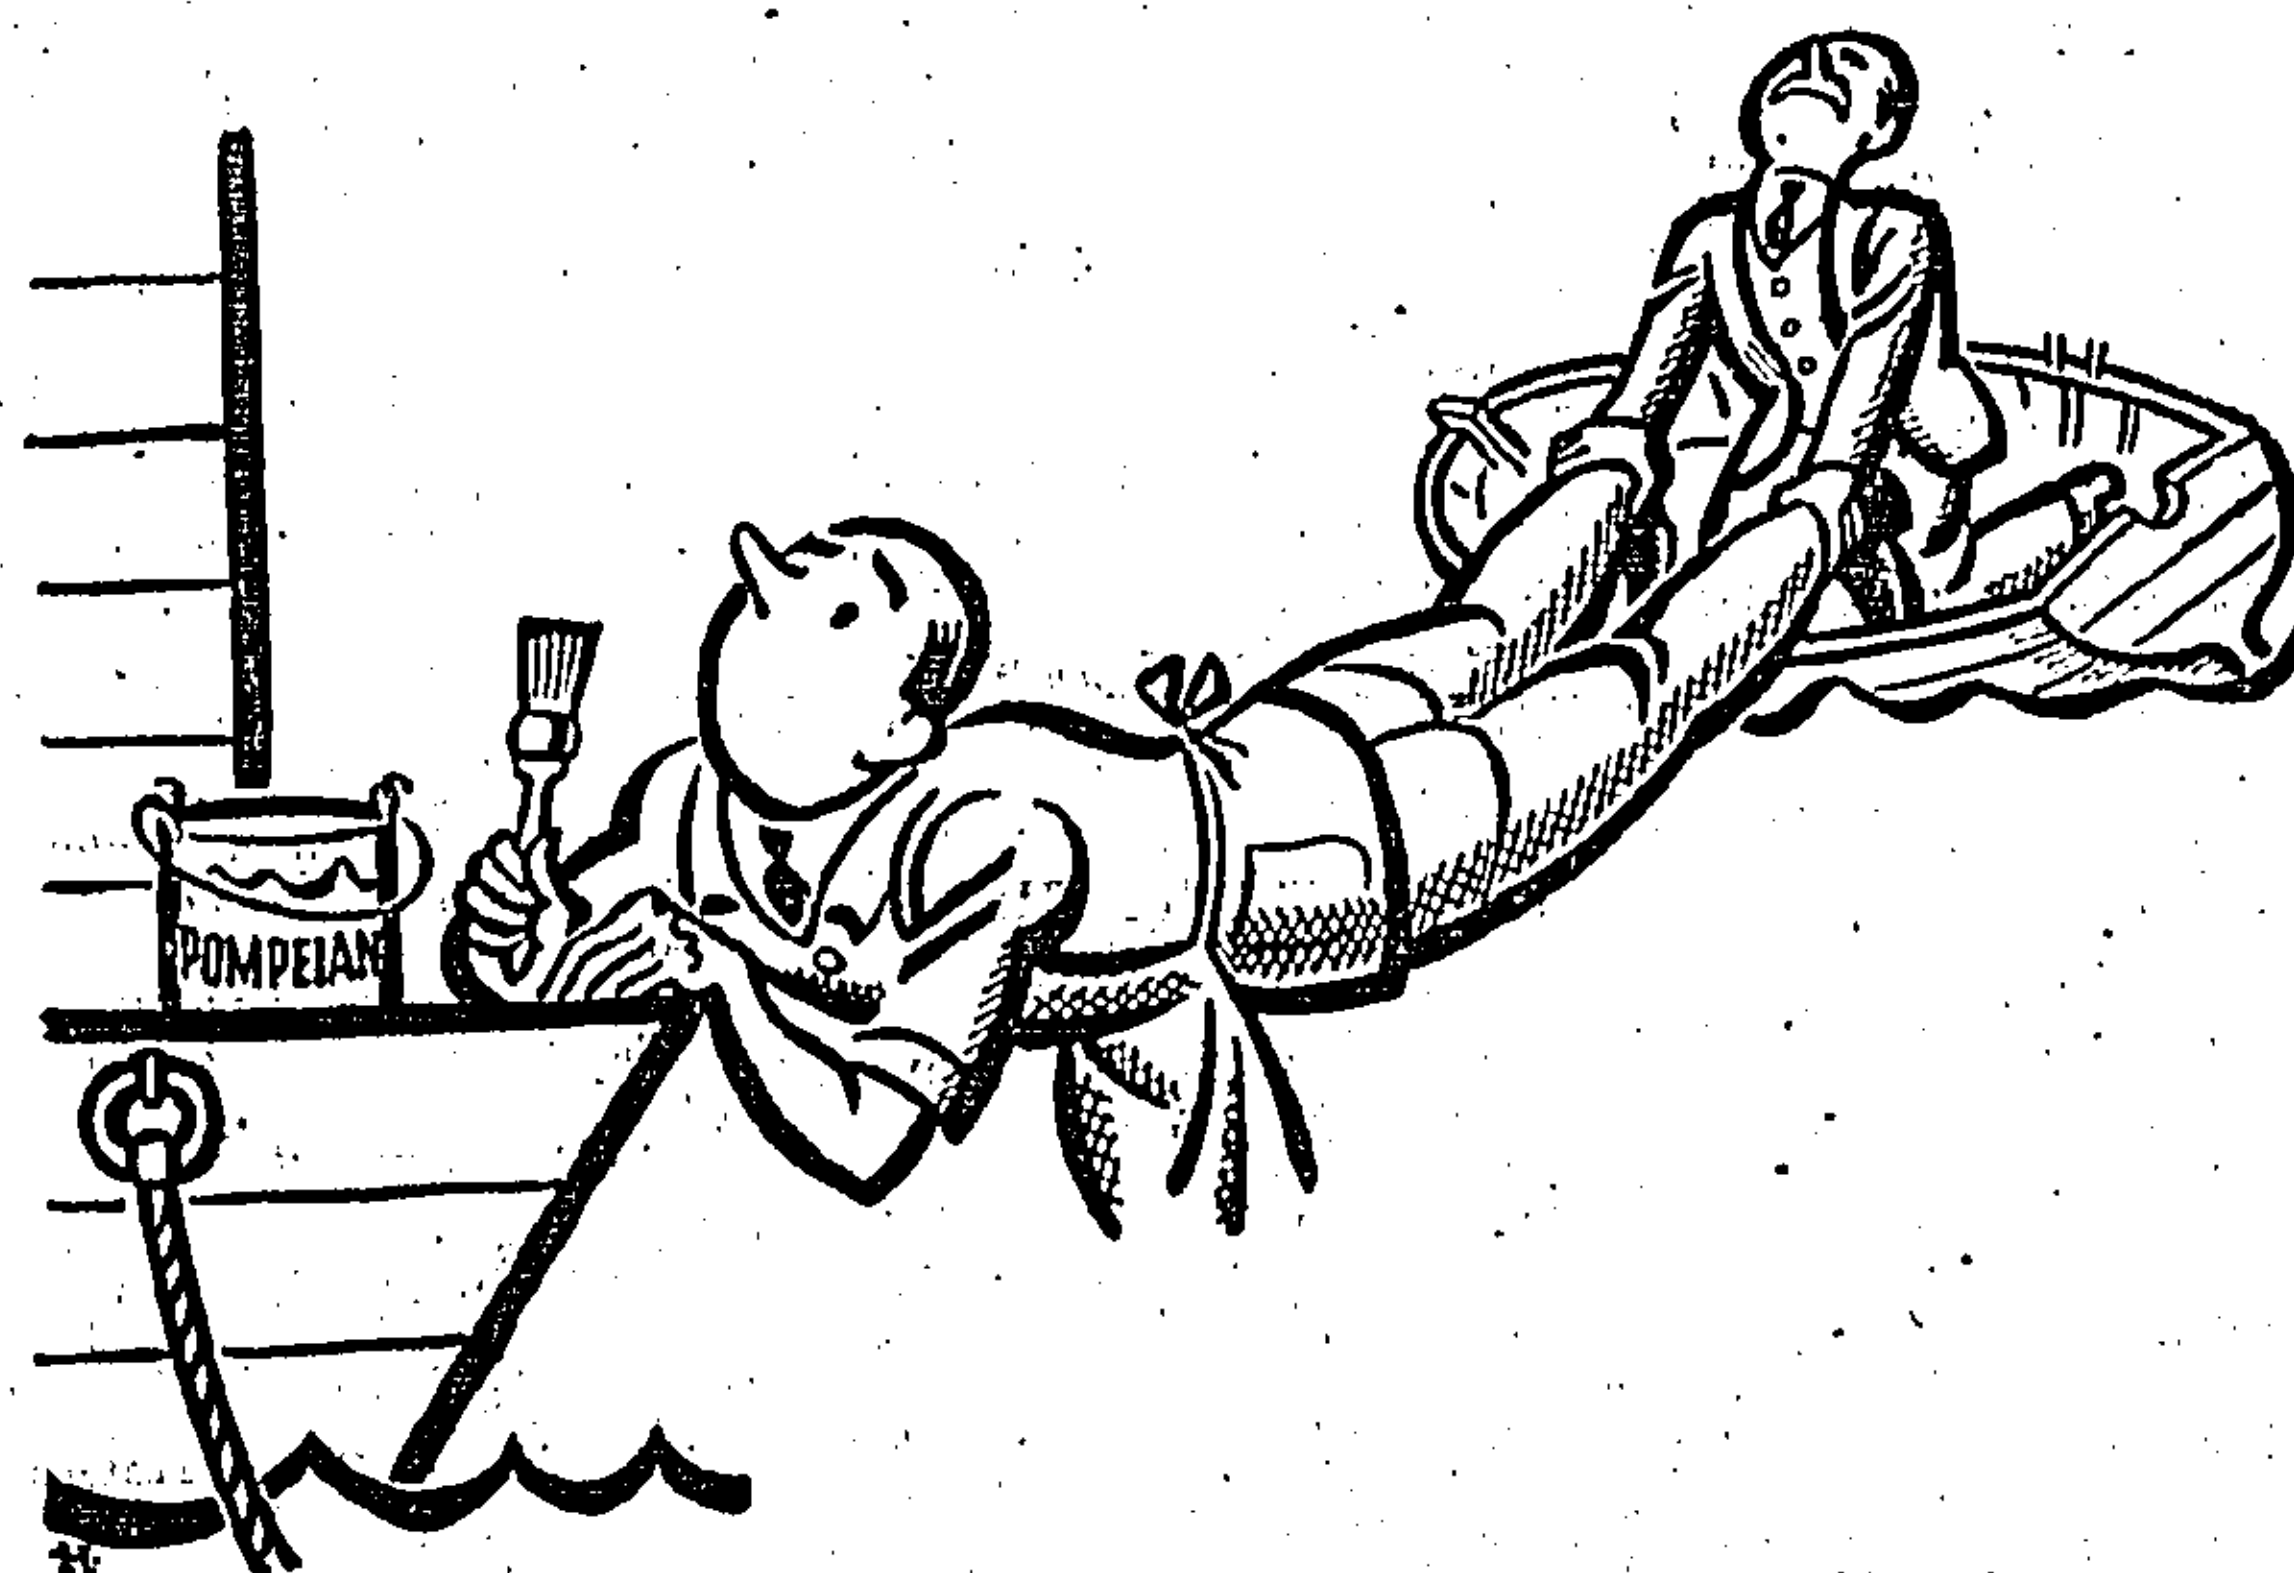

Colors Hair Inside, as Nature Does

NOTOX is the modern scientific corrective for gray hair. Unlike old-fashioned dyes which coat the hair on outside, NOTOX replaces the color inside the hair shaft, where nature had it, so that your hair retains its youthful healthy gloss. The effect of NOTOX is so entirely natural that no one need ever know you have used NOTOX, unless you boast about its wonderful results, as many of our patrons do.

Fashions Favoured For The Fall

Berets, Turbans And Peaked Toques.

BERETS, turbans and peaked toques lead very decidedly the fall chapeau parade. They are varied as varied can be. Some are charmingly draped and ornamented, others draped back and high-topped by curled ostrich tips; still others shoot-the-queue toward the eyes. The front tips are flattering and a relief after the off-the-face vogue.

In addition to being soft and light on the head these small hats go extremely well with the town frock of dark silk, and equally well with velvets and velveteens. Duvelyn, suede, soft woolsens, in fact any of the soft pile fabrics lend themselves advantageously to the hats this autumn.

Dresses Match Cars

All-White Fashion For Motoring.

WIDE HAT VOGUE

WHITE is the latest colour for the woman motorist. Hitherto it has been banned as impractical by the woman at the wheel, but the new vogue was launched in Paris.

Motor-cars are painted white to match the dress ensemble.

This is a development of the recent craze on the part of women of fashion to dress in the same colour as the immediate surroundings.

Several London hostesses have recently introduced the fashion of the all-white drawing-room, in which they usually appear gowned in white, but the vogue has now been extended to out-of-doors functions.

An all-white car, with every accessory to match, was much admired at a smart motoring event off the Champs Elysees. The driver, also clad in white wore a wide-brimmed white hat.

"Cartwheel" Hats. Many other wearers of large summer hats did so in defiance of the unwritten law that the woman motorist must don a beret or similar small cap. Spectators marvelled at the way in which these "cartwheels" stayed on the heads of wearers even in open cars. It was a tribute to the art of the modern milliner, who designs her hats to fit the head as closely as possible in contrast to the large Edwardian creations which had to be fastened in place with hatpins. Straw turbans, Circassian hats and "gigolo" sailor hats were the choice of those drivers who clung to the brimless or small-brimmed models as more suited to motoring. The Circassian hat is of the smoking cap order, with a long tassel.

White pique and white organdie dresses were chosen by many women, and large black hats provided an effective contrast. Colours were also worn to match the hues of smart cars. Striped cravat silk jackets accompanied white frocks where a colour note was wanted.

The Muff Mode

DRAPED muffs, heavily trimmed with the softer furs, are carried by the mannequins with all formal coats. Muff sleeves and handbags are popular too.

The Eye Beautifier

THERE is a new eye shadow cream made for blondes and brunettes alike. Chinese green is put over Mediterranean blue, with a novel peacock blue and green shot effect.

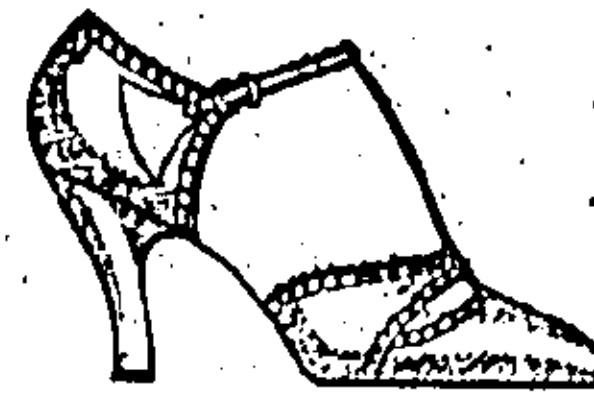

Selecting Autumn Millinery

Points To Look For.

POINTS to look for when buying a new autumn hat are: Crowns rising to a slight peak on top, feather wings arranged to a point behind the head.

Shirred, stamped or shaved velvet caps.

Flame is a favourite colour for feathers. Velvet berets are fuller in the crown and the black ones have small, glossy black ostrich plumes curled one side and round the back.

WEAK ARMY
RUGBY FIFTEEN
BEAT CLUBScrappy Game Won
By A Try.

HUTCHISON'S PROMISE

Though without the services of Li Birt, Li Hebert, Li Gallely, Li Hamilton, and Li Walker the Army caused a sensation when they beat the Club by two tries (6 points) to a try (3 points) in a very scrappy Rugby match at Sookun-poo yesterday.

The Club made two changes in their side. Rigg took J. P. Whitham's place at full-back and Hutchison came into the three-quarter line in place of Rigg. In the pack S. H. Garrod was replaced by Stillard.

The Army, who were served well by their forwards in the loose, led at the interval by a try scored by Walters during a forward rush. Ferguson then got over for the Club after a good three-quarter movement. The winning try was scored by Bromley who intercepted a pass.

The Club three-quarters never revealed their best form, Hutchison giving the best display.

The Club were represented by: W. H. B. Rigg; J. J. Ferguson, J. Hutchison, R. H. Griffiths and G. P. Lamont; A. F. Jenkins and J. A. R. Selby (Captain); G. C. Mouton, E. H. Walkden, D. McCallum, R. Stillard, I. H. Bradford, A. D. Cumming, G. A. Stewart and A. K. Munro.

BORDERERS' 100 PER CENT SHATTEREDATHLETIC WIN KEEN
GAME BY 4-3

RECREIO SURPRISE R.A.S.C.

THE Navy celebrated Navy Day in traditional style when they recorded the "double" against the Artillery in the local Football League. The Borderers lost their 100 per cent. record in the Third Division when they lost to South China. The Recreation surprised the R.A.S.C. These were the features of yesterday's programme.

The Third Division match between the Air Force and the Engineers was postponed owing to the fact that the former were engaged in Navy Day activities.

Jones, the Borderers inside forward who headed the League goal-scoring last season, proved the leading marksman yesterday. He netted four of the Borderers' eight against the Recreation.

FIRST DIVISION.

Frayed Tempers Lead
To Penalties.

CLUB BEAT THE POLICE.

The Club defeated the Police by 3 goals to 2 on the former's ground in a game in which feeling ran high.

The standard of football was quite good, both teams giving a good display. There was a lot of unnecessary barracking by the spectators, however, and the referee, Bdr. Brown, had occasion to speak to one section. The barracking had a deteriorating effect on the game, and resulted in the award of a penalty to each side in the second half.

Andy Duncan played a great game for the winners, tackling well, and feeding his wing with well placed passes. S. Strange at back was a tower of strength, and continually found his men with good length clearances. Fowler was the best of the forwards, and displayed a good sense of anticipation. E. Strange, while being a very hard worker, spoiled many good openings, by over-dribbling. Howe was at fault with his play in front of goal, and would do better to pass instead of trying to walk through the opposing defence on his own.

Pile was the outstanding Police player. His clearances under severe pressure were at times brilliant. Channing was very steady in the centre-half position, and was well supported on either side by Perkins and Shepherd.

The Police were very soon attacking, Willerton driving just over the bar. Shortly after, Lawson did well to save from the same player, getting to the ball when a goal seemed certain.

There was nothing to choose between the teams when from Blackford's flag kick Howe deflected the ball towards the right wing for Fowler to flash the ball past McHardy.

McHardy brought off some fine saves during the first half, when he dived and made a one-handed save from Fowler—a shot fired in at great speed from ten yards range.

Shortly after the interval, the Police were awarded a penalty for "hands." Green made no mistake with the kick, to score the equaliser. Soon after the Club were awarded a penalty against McHardy, and from the "spot kick" S. Strange scored.

The Police fought back pluckily, and it came as no surprise when, from a scramble a few yards out, Green shot past Lawson to bring the scores level again.

The Police were not on level terms long, however, Fowler scoring a glorious goal from a centre by Blackford.

Club: Lawson; Strange (S); Hynes; Duncan (A); Skinner, Robertson; Fowler, Dornay, Howe, Strange (E) and Blackford.

Police: McHardy; Blackburn, Pile; Perkins, Channing, Shepherd; Gough; Hutchison, Willerton, Green and Brittain.

The Artillery's Fourth
Successive Defeat.

NAVY WORTHY WINNERS

The Artillery suffered their fourth successive defeat when they were beaten by 2 goals to 1 by the Navy at Happy Valley.

The Navy attacked from the start and Comby made a great save from Langmead only to push the ball out to Hinder who opened the scoring without difficulty.

After 20 minutes the Artillery improved and Pardoe plied both the wings with good passes. Green-shields sent Leach through and Woodman could only partially save the latter's shot for Snook to score the equaliser.

After the interval the Navy attacked continuously, but were held at bay until half-way through the second half when from a corner Burnage scored with a great shot. The Artillery forwards then made a bold bid to level the scores and Woodman made a good save from Smith.

Artillery: Comby; Allan, Wood; Harris, Pardoe, Rogers; Snook, Smith, Leach, Green-shields and Seal. Navy: Woodman; James, West; Perkins, Thomas, McGuire; Fairless, Smith, Langmead, Burnage and Hinder.

Borderers Beat Recreio
By 8 To 0.

JONES SCORES FOUR.

At King's Park the Recreation proved no match for the Borderers, being heavily defeated by eight goals to nil.

The soldiers pressed from the start, and were unlucky not to score on several occasions, shots from Hazelwood and Harris striking the upright and cross bar with Marques well beaten.

The Borderers first goal was scored by Jones whose shot just went in under the upright. The second, the only other score in the first half, was a lucky point in attempting a clearance from a centre. Gutierrez turned the ball into his own goal, Marques having no chance of saving.

In the second half of the game, the Borderers had things pretty much their own way, Jones netting three more, and Hazelwood, Wallace and Duncan all scoring one each. The Recreation got the ball into the net, but the point was disallowed for "off-side."

Borderers: Smith; Harris, Morris; Wallace, Podmore, Underwood, Morris (65), Wilson, Hazelwood, Jones and Duncan. Recreation: Marques; Silva Netto, Gutierrez, McGraw, Figueredo, Maher, Castilho, Goncalves, Sousa, Gomes and Santos.

Athletic Win Exciting
Game By Odd Goal.

KOWLOON'S PLUCKY FIGHT.

Chinese Athletic secured two hard-earned points in their encounter with Kowloon on the latter's ground by 4 goals to 3 in an evenly contested game which provided surprisingly keen finish.

Kowloon opened the scoring early in the game when Timberlake netted from a penalty. The Athletic were, however, soon in the Kowloon danger area, To Hau-hong securing the equaliser with a great effort. With the forwards predominating both goals were hard pressed, and the Athletic took the lead through Ho Ki-hong after a short-passing movement of the inside forwards which left the Kowloon defence spreadeagled. Elliot and Lewis tested Li without success and the Chinese went further ahead when Au Ping-ming netted with Cord unsighted.

With Bliss at centre-half and Timberlake in the forward line in the second half Kowloon attacked with redoubled energy, and it was not long before Elliot headed the ball past Li Kwok-ki.

After Elliot had evened the score with a glorious "daisy-cutter" the standard of play improved and with both sides trying their utmost to secure the lead the ball was constantly carried from end to end. Ho Ki-hong eventually gave the Athletic the points as the result of a good solo effort in the closing minutes.

WORCESTERS BEAT LINCOLNS AT FOOTBALL

Unbeaten Soccer Team
Lose 3-1.

VISITORS' GOALKEEPER SAVES PENALTY SHOT

The 2nd Bn. Worcestershire Regiment, who arrived in Hong Kong yesterday morning by the Neoralia en route for Shanghai, secured a well deserved triumph this morning when they overcame the unbeaten Lincolns League team by 3 goals to 1 after leading by two goals at the interval.

The match was one of the best of the season and was witnessed by over 1,000 spectators.

In the junior game the Lincolns Boys won by three clear goals.

In the match between the Battalion teams the Worcesters gave an inspiring exhibition, their splendid ground passes enabling them to assert an early superiority over the Lincolns, who were not as well-balanced as their rivals.

After five minutes play Archer netted for the Worcesters, and immediately after Hocquard hit the cross-bar.

Five minutes later Jones increased the Worcesters' lead. Before half-time the Lincolns were awarded a penalty, but Hubbard brilliantly saved Hocquard's shot. Hubbard's play between the sticks was the feature of the game.

Commencing the second half with a two goals lead the Worcesters went further ahead through a goal by Mullin.

In the last two minutes of the game Higgins scored the best goal of the match when he converted a centre from Hocquard.

Lincolns:—Heath, Turner and Rodens; Duley, Cork and Bett; Baldry, McGuinness, Higgins, Ridley and Hocquard (Captain).

Worcesters:—Hubbard; Eggleton, Shephard; Richards, Smith, Willson; Frogdair, Sgt. Dellaway, Mullin, Archer, and Jones.

Brigadier F. S. Thackeray D.S.O., M.C., who is relieving Brigadier G. Fleming, C.B.E., D.S.O. in Shanghai, witnessed the match. He was for four years Commanding Officer of the Lincolns. Lt.-Col. E. J. de C. Boys M.C., the Commanding Officer of the Lincolns, was also present.

LINCOLNS BOYS WIN

After leading by 3 goals to nil at half-time the Lincolns Boys beat their Worcester rivals by that margin after only ten minutes play in the second half.

Driver, Millar, and Johnson scored the goals, while Dyson was the outstanding player on the field. Driver and Chapman were prominent for the Lincolns.

Worcesters Boys:—Hand; Wood, Waller; Cummins; Hastings, Wilson; Poplewell, Edge, Dyson, Wheeler, and Hickman.

Lincolns Boys:—Day; Trowl; Rimes; Metcalf, Chapman, Ellacott; Allison, Driver, Johnson, Millar, and Palethorpe.

HONG KONG, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1933.

Hong Kong And The Navy.

RELATIONS between civilian residents and members of the Services have not been as close and intimate as they might have been, the absence of contacts—except on the sports fields—having been mainly responsible. The motive of the local Navy Day celebrations was principally to induce a better co-operation between civilians and the Navy, and the Commodore is to be commended for his efforts to achieve a closer companionship. His object should be much nearer attainment as the result of the most successful celebrations yesterday. The attractive programme was carried out with the efficiency expected of the Senior Service, and the organisers are to be congratulated. The naval and aerial displays were instructive and interesting, but of main value was the opportunity afforded for close study of the sailor's life on board ship. The thousands, Europeans and Chinese, who inspected the warships conversed with the sailor, and there were few, if any, who did not vote him a "good chap." Because a sailor, when ashore, is mainly concerned with obtaining recreation or enjoyment, many are apt to misjudge him, but occasions such as Navy Day help to correct such misconceptions that might be held. Navy Day and Trafalgar Day observances, and the formation of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve have placed the Navy rather prominently in public attention recently, and it is hoped that appreciation of the Navy's services and realisation of past shortcomings in the matter of the Colony's hospitality have been stirred to a greater degree than has previously been manifested. There is before the public now a most worthy appeal—the Cheer O Club Fund and, while the response has been quite gratifying, it has not been as spontaneous as hoped for, particularly in view of the merit of the cause and the most modest sum, ($85,000) required. Those who paid the admission fee yesterday may derive some satisfaction from the fact that part of the proceeds will be devoted to this fund.

Comment on the programme would be incomplete without mention of the splendid playing of the massed bands of the Lincolnshire Regiment and the South Wales Borderers who "Beat the Retreat." The huge audience was impressed and thrilled. The occasion served to remind that the Colony hears too little of the military bands. The subject of another Military Tattoo seems a controversial one, but the authorities might well consider the suggestion that more band concerts be provided.

Political Events In France.

THE threat of a political crisis of some magnitude has been averted in France—for the present at least. The fall of the Daladier Government occasioned little surprise as it had been apparent for some time that the taxation proposals would be unacceptable to the Chamber of Deputies. The new Cabinet, retaining the most important members of the previous Ministry, presents few changes, the slight extensions to the Right and Left Wings leaving the Radicals and Socialists still predominant. There will be little change in policy, particularly on foreign affairs. The new Premier, M. Albert Sarraut, an experienced statesman, is unlikely to succeed where his predecessor failed, as he is faced with precisely the same problems and precisely the same popular resentment to any plans for increased imposts on the taxpayer. In fact the new Government appears to be a stop-gap one, particularly as M. Herriot is not included in the re-shuffling of portfolios. Since the defeat of his Government nine months ago (on the war debts issue) M. Herriot's status has been a mystery. Without official standing, he is evidently the "power behind the throne," and it is regarded as significant that he represented France at the Washington conference with President Roosevelt and later at the Moscow meeting with Stalin. It is thought in many quarters that, once the financial problems have been settled, M. Herriot will return to the Premier's ship. In the meantime the Budget deficit remains as a threat to M. Sarraut, and it will be extremely interesting to see whether he can induce the French taxpayer to make a sacrifice which seems inevitable. It is worth recalling that M. Daladier's downfall was hastened by the Disarmament concessions, even though they were of a minor nature and were grudgingly made. If there is any change in foreign policy in the near future, an even stronger Nationalist outlook is the most probable result.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

COLONY REVENUE INCREASE

But Expenditure Also Higher.

DUTIES AND RAILWAY RECEIPTS RISE

The Colony's ordinary revenue (excluding land sales) for the month of July, at $2,907,558.76, is $38,283.18 higher than that of July of last year.

The revenue for the year to July 31, exclusive of land sales, at $19,237,344.48, shows an increase of $164,718.63 over the corresponding period of last year.

Total ordinary expenditure for the year to July 31, at $2,163,883.80, is $30,624.75 higher than for the same period of last year.

While Port and Harbour Dues showed a considerable falling-off for the month of July from the figures of last year, the ordinary revenue for the month was better by comparison.

Duties show an increase of $39,783.73, and Kowloon-Canton Railway receipts are better by $22,215.08. Rents of Government property, land and houses have risen by $30,907.51 over the corresponding period of last year.

Court Fees etc. and Miscellaneous receipts are up by $18,287.63.

On the other hand, Port and Harbour Dues are lower by $14,984.22. Licenses and Internal Revenue, not otherwise specified, by $11,688.32, and Post Office by $10,380.75.

If, however, Land Sales and Promia on new leases, which are necessarily an uncertain quantity, are taken into account, the total revenue for the month, at $2,940,287.24, is $21,300.77 lower than that of July 1932.

Expenditure Increases.

Ordinary expenditure for the month, at $2,163,883.80, is higher by $30,624.75, compared with that of last July, while Extraordinary Expenditure, Public Works Department, is $89,798.34 higher, though the total expenditure for the year to July 31, at $25,918,165.01, is lower by $765,814.39 than that for the corresponding period of last year, amounting to $16,683,979.40.

This is, however, offset by Extraordinary Expenditure, Public Works Department, $1,756,119.53, as against $854,161.80 last year.

Harbour Department expenditure for the month, at $76,082.40, which includes $914.59 for air service, is $44,878.58 lower than that of last July, which amounted to $110,958.98, including $995.08 for air service. All other Departments show increases, with the exception of the Royal Observatory, the Botanical and Forestry Department, the Volunteer Defence Corps and the Crown Solicitor's Office. Post Office expenditure shows an increase of $26,867.56, Wireless Telegraph Service $309.08, Imports and Exports Office $2,260.78, Police Force $17,468.35, Medical Department $7,100.13, Sanitary Department $11,776.24 and Public Works Department, including recurrent expenditure, $32,863.03.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

October 7.

Sir Cecil Rorer's Example

It is stated that Gen. Sir Cecil Rorer, who became Adjutant-General to the Forces last February, is contemplating retirement before his tenure of office expires.

This voluntary sacrifice is presumably intended as a personal contribution towards alleviating the present congestion in promotion. Gen. Rorer's mooted step in setting this example will cause regrets, but will certainly enhance the respect in which he is held.

It has been a matter of growing comment that, while admirals and air marshals have for years been making voluntary retirements to help the prospects of younger men, generals have hitherto shown no inclination to follow their lead.

A Vigorous Sexagenarian

Though the Adjutant-General will be 64 in November, he is physically and mentally more vigorous than many younger generals.

Like Sir David Campbell, the present Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Malta, he takes an amount of active exercise that contrasts forcibly with the sedentary habits of other men of his age. Often, after a long day on the training area, he finds time for 18 holes of golf before dinner.

Royal Finger-prints

At the end of this month Supt. George Cornish, of Scotland Yard, is retiring after 39 years' service. He has the unique distinction of having taken the fingerprints of royalty.

When King Manoel of Portugal had property to the value of £30,000 stolen Supt. Cornish was asked to take charge of the case. His first step was to determine which of the fingerprints at King Manoel's Twickenham house were made by strangers, and to do this he had to take impressions from King Manoel, his consort, and the house staff.

Mr. Laughton and "Alice"

Mr. Charles Laughton is likely to be so busy at the Old Vic that there is now no possibility of his appearing in the much-discussed film of "Alice in Wonderland." Mr. Laughton began rehearsals for "Henry VIII." on October 2, and is likely to be in England for at least eight months.

He states that according to report he had been cast for every part in "Alice in Wonderland" except that of Alice herself.

Mr. Laughton should be interested in the new Henry VIII. which has just been discovered. It happens that it is the only picture extant which shows the king with grey hair. This question was a subject of much speculation between Mr. Laughton and his producers. Eventually they decided to show the king in his last years with grey hair, though there was no authentic painting to support that make-up.

University "Loans"

There is nothing particularly new in the scheme, launched at Cambridge, of a "loan fund for undergraduates" in financial straits, although such schemes have never before come into the open with the publicity of official sanction.

At Oxford a quarter of a century ago there were many eleemosynary funds organised by college and not university authorities. One element about them was their secrecy; if the dons let their right hand know what their left hand did, they did not let the rest of the college know.

Grants were made to suitable undergraduates who were short of money through no fault of their own. Repayment of such "loans" was not actually demanded or even expected. But in a large number of cases the money was eventually paid back.

New Candidate for Kilmarnock

The sudden withdrawal of Sir Alexander McKenzie Livingstone as National Labour candidate for Kilmarnock is a surprise to all his friends. Only recently he was in perfect health, and fully expecting to fight the seat.

Mr. Kenneth Lindsay, who takes his place, has fought three elections as an official Labour candidate. He was President of the Oxford Union, founded the University Labour Club, and toured America as a member of a debating team which included Mr. Malcolm MacDonald.

After taking his degree he lived for three years at Toynbee Hall, and became a Borough Councillor and Guardian for Stepney. Later he joined the staff of the Dominions Office as an expert on emigration, and visited both Canada and the El Dorado Colony on the Parana River in the Argentine to study land settlement on the spot.

Foreign Office Changes.

Further interesting changes have been made in the higher organisation of the Foreign Office.

An additional Assistant-Secretary of State has been created. Mr. Orme Sargent, the new Assistant-Secretary, will be in charge of the re-organised Central and Southern European departments. He will have under his direction Mr. Ralph Wigram, responsible for Central European affairs, which now include France, Belgium, Germany, Poland and Danzig, and Mr. O'Malley, in charge of Southern Europe, which covers Spain, Italy, Austria and the Balkans.

Mr. Laurence Collier remains in charge of the Northern department, covering Scandinavia, the Baltic States and Russia.

Naval and Military Weddings.

An announcement from the War Office on September 29 that the Bishop of London had granted a licence for marriages to be celebrated in the Guards' Chapel at Chelsea Barracks, the Royal Military Chapel at Wellington Barracks, and the Garrison Church in Hounslow, was at first slightly mystifying. Many weddings have taken place in the past in the first two of these chapels, but it has been necessary to obtain a special licence from the Archbishop of Canterbury at a cost of over £20 to make such marriages legal.

But last year a special Act of Parliament was passed without opposition empowering the bishop of any diocese at the request of the Admiralty, War Office or Air Ministry, to license any military or naval chapel for weddings without further formalities.

Under the Act any licensing must be made public; that is the explanation of this morning's announcement.

The privilege of being married in such chapels is confined to members of fighting services and their daughters.

The Plum Harvest.

In the Vale of Evesham, the plum harvest is in full swing; it is both exceptionally early and exceptionally heavy, but prices are deplorable.

"Pick as much as you can carry for a shilling" is a notice frequently to be seen outside farms on the main roads.

The system of collecting and marketing the fruit from the smaller growers is curiously primitive. The cottager puts his "pots"—large round baskets—of plums outside his front door overnight. Very early in the morning a carrier drives round the lanes and collects them. When his van is full he drives off to the nearest market town and sells the fruit for what he can get. In some cases he even leaves the money on the doorstep when he calls again early next morning.

NAVY DAY IN HONG KONG.

FLYING DISPLAY FROM EAGLE

Guests Watch From Destroyers.

MANOEUVRES AT SEA

In typical monsoon weather, a crowd of guests assembled at the Naval Dockyard early yesterday morning to embark on the Eighth Destroyer Flotilla Leader, Keppel, reserved for the official guests, and the Destroyers Witch and Wishart, detailed to carry the Trafalgar Day flag-bearers, members of the newly-formed Hong Kong Royal Naval Volunteer Reserves and the Press, to witness flying operations and aerial manoeuvres by machines from H.M.S. Eagle at sea.

The Keppel, with the official party, cast off promptly at 8 o'clock, followed a quarter of an hour later by the two destroyers Witch and Wishart with the rest of the party.

Inside Lyemun Pass the sea was fairly calm, but by the time Junk Bay was reached there was a lively swell on with a strong northerly wind.

While the Keppel landed her passengers on the Eagle the two destroyers Witch and Wishart made their way towards Waglan Island, followed shortly afterwards by the Eagle, with the Keppel as escort.

Machine-guns and bombing. When abreast of the Ninetins the programme of the day opened with the flight of a squadron of nine Hawker Ospreys from the deck of the Eagle, first in squadron formation of three flights, circling the mother ship, and then carrying out a machine-gun attack on a target towed by the Eagle, diving in regular order towards their mark.

This was followed by a demonstration of high bombing by 10 Fairey III-F machines, which started from Tai Tak Aerodrome, their performance being concluded by a mimic aerial torpedo attack upon the Eagle.

Aerobatics. The next item was an aerobatic display by three Hawker Ospreys, which showed amazing precision in carrying out the delicate manoeuvre known as the "Prince of Wales's Feathers." Unfortunately the low-hanging clouds interfered somewhat with visibility during this final part of the programme.

The display over the Tai Tak Aerodrome, while the Eagle returned to Hong Kong accompanied, as far as the Lyemun Pass, by the Destroyers Keppel, Witch and Wishart.

From here the Witch and Wishart turned eastwards and made a tour of Hong Kong Island, entering the harbour through the Sulphur Passage, and landing her passengers at Murray Wharf at about 12.15 a.m.

The Official Guests

The official party consisted of H. E. the Governor, Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., and Lady Peel, Captain F. R. Walker, R.A., A.D.C., Mr. J. G. Picher, The Acting Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, Mr. E. G. Jamieson, C.B.E., (British Consul at Canton), Commodore Frank Elliott, R.N., O.B.E., and Mrs. Elliott, Captain C.M. Blackman, the Hon. Mr. D. W. Tratman, C.M.G., (Acting Colonial Secretary), Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, (Attorney General), Hon. Mr. G. E. Wood, Hon. Mr. A. W. Tickle, (Acting Director of Public Works), Mr. C. G. S. Mackie, The Police Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindell, the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, Inspector General of Police, Hon. Dr. A. R. Wellington, (Director of Medical Services), the Hon. Dr. T'so Seen Wan, O. B. E., the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Sir William Hornell, Kt., (Vice-Chancellor of the Hong Kong University), Col. F. P. Nosworthy, D.S.O., M.C., (General Staff Officer), Col. S. Boyd, D.S.O., R.E., Lt.-Col. G. T. Raikes, D.S.O., Commanding the 1st Battalion, the South Wales Borderers, Lt.-Col. W. L. Hallis, M.C., Officer Commanding the 3/9th Jat Regiment, Mr. A. L. Shields, Mr. E. Cook, Mr. W. A. Dowly, Mr. A. S. MacKiehon and Mr. H. S. Rouse.

There is little doubt that the "Eagle" was the most popular ship with the kiddies too, for in the spacious hanger were the swing boats, never idle. The flying-deck too, had its attractions. From here, the aerial trolley carried its cargo of shouting juveniles way out over the water and back, and like Oliver Twist, they all asked for more.

Realistic "Battles"

The destroyer action displays in the basin provided the greatest thrills of the afternoon. Aided by the Air Arm, these sleek, spick and span craft gave the crowd an excellent idea of the efficiency of the British Navy.

A destroyer at rest in a landlocked bay, her decks deserted but for an officer idly smoking at the stern. Then zooming out of the sky comes a swift seaplane. An enemy submarine is making for the shelter. A wireless warning.

In an instant the decks were full of officers and men, some half-dressed, but nevertheless very efficient. In another instant the awnings were down and the decks cleared for action and the guns and torpedo tubes manned. An anxious wait, then the nose of the submarine came round the point into the "bay." A thundering salvo. The "battle" had begun.

It carried realism, this battle, with the guns of the destroyer belching flame and the seaplane swooping and banking at a dizzy speed. Even the "dead" gunner on the destroyer's deck looked real, particularly to the kiddies who bombarded weary parents with a hundred questions.

The fact that the submarine rose to the surface again after half-sinking, an incident which caused some laughter, failed to detract from the thrill of the engagement.

Equally exciting was the No. 1 action, where one pictured a destroyer engaging a merchant ship and an aeroplane. Here, the firing of a dummy torpedo caused great interest. It had the touch of realism that featured the whole display.

Howitzer Demonstration

Two detachments from H.M.S. Nerwick, divided into howitzer crews and escorts, demonstrated the mobility of the modern howitzer, on the football ground. An amazed gathering watched the heavy gun literally torn apart, thrown over a wall, and assembled again with almost incredible rapidity.

It is interesting to note that a naval battery of these weapons was landed at Shanghai to assist in the protection of the International Settlement, early last year.

"Subs" Amaze Many

The submarines were a source of wonder to many, and a constant stream of visitors filed through the narrow confines gazing with awe on the intricate controls of the under-seas fighting vessel. All agreed that the tortuous descent and ascent was well worth while.

The cruisers were likewise besieged by the sightseers, the guns being one of the chief points of interest. Obliging experts were stationed at all points to explain the mysteries to the uninitiated.

Father Neptune At Work. The "Crossing the Line" ceremony provided the afternoon's humour. At both performances, the pageant attracted many. Many side-shows were well patronised between the main items on the programme, which were announced and explained by loud speakers erected in many parts of the Naval Yard.

Thrilling Air Stunts

The aircraft display, during the ten interval, excited great admiration, some excellent stunting and formation flying being demonstrated by the Fleet Air Arm pilots in the latest fighting aircraft.

Nothing as omitted to make the Colony's Navy Day an outstanding success, and the courtesy shown to the visitors, irrespective of race, augurs well for the future relations between the Senior Service and the civilian public.

A feature of the day was the interest aroused among the Chinese population, the majority of whom have never had the opportunity of boarding a British man-of-war. J. E. W.

NEURALIA SAILS FOR SHANGHAI

Five Hours' Re-union Of Two Regiments.

LINCOLN'S WARM 'GOODBYE' TO WORCESTERS

The troopship Neuralia, after a stay of five hours only, sailed for Shanghai a few minutes after noon yesterday, conveying the Worcesters on the last stage of their long journey from Malta.

Two football matches were played with the Lincolns, each Regiment winning one, and over a thousand "Tommies" witnessed some good football at the Kowloon Football Ground. At the interval a massed attack was made on the refreshment stall under the management of the Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes.

The games concluded, the two regiments marched in companies to Holt's Wharf to the tune of the regimental marches, "The Lincolnshire Poacher" and "The Windsor."

It is an interesting fact that, in token of the traditional friendship existing between the two regiments, the playing of the individual regimental march of either is invariably followed by the march of the other regiment.

The party included a small detachment of the Queen's Royal Regiment bound to Tientsin to join their unit. The ship left to the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" and much cheering from those on board and on the quayside.

Man Only Reaps That Which He Sows

Final Reckoning Too Often Forgotten

HARVEST SEASON BRINGS REMINDERS

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

It is somewhat difficult out here in Hongkong to capture the meaning that lies behind the spirit of the Harvest Thanks giving. There are no fields of waving wheat, stirred by the passing breeze, no sound of the threshing, no garnered sheaves. Yet year by year we keep up the festival of Harvest, and it is right that we should, for if there were no harvest in other parts of the world, we Westerners would soon be in a sorry plight. Splendid food though rice may be, we prefer it in the shape of an occasional curry, or a still more occasional pudding, than as the staple article of our diet.

There are few more delightful experiences than to attend a Harvest Service in the peace of an English village church, when those whose lives are bound up so intimately with the soil gather together to thank the Lord of the harvest for the safe gathering of the fruits of the earth for another year.

To them and to us, Harvest speaks with many voices. It reminds us of God's wondrous promise, in the days when the world was young;—that as long as the earth endured, seed time and Harvest should not fail. The long centuries have passed on, the map of the world has been altered again and again, but in every year of every generation that promise has been fulfilled. If in some part of the world Harvest has been poor, in some other part there has been enough and to spare, and so has ever come the answer to our prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread."

Nature's Silent Contrast. Sometimes it reminds us that God needs our help in all His plans. The seasons may come and go, but unless the farmer does his share in preparing his land and sowing his seed, there will be no harvest for him to gather in, and so it speaks to us of the pathway of service.

Sometimes it speaks to us in another way. It reminds us of how God works in the silences and the silences of life. In all the hurry and bustle of modern conditions, when we live at such a high rate of speed, the whirl of machinery and the hum of industry seem to drown the quietness in which God does so many of His marvellous works.

There is no sound as the snow

TOO MUCH ACID

The right anti-acid offsets the harm otherwise done by excessive eating, drinking, and constant smoking, anything causing an acid condition. When "sunk" from such indulgences, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will always straighten you out. A joy and comfort to hearty eaters, constant smokers. Get the genuine; substitutes don't act the same.

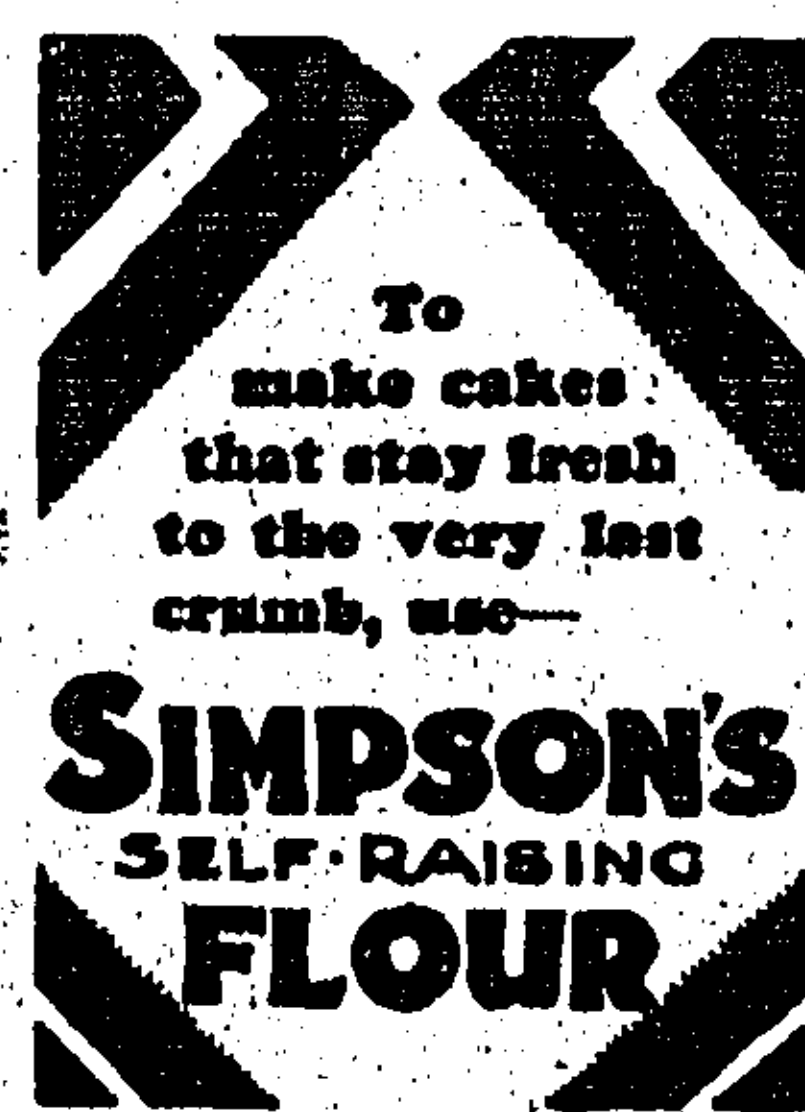

ALSO IN TABLET FORM, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

TAMMANY'S GRIP ON NEW YORK

Frenzied Spending And Corruption In A City
Brought Near Bankruptcy

(By Percy S. Bullen.)

THE Rake's Progress is a favourite simile for illustrating the financial career of New York City. To-day, after years of unbridled extravagance, the American metropolis, once the richest city in the world, is literally in pawn to the financial interests, the public utility magnates, and landlords—of which triumvirate Tammany is the broker. The new Mayor in November next may be scarcely more than a receiver in bankruptcy under a broken-down political and social system.

To such a sad estate has the proud city fallen that the authorities, forgetting their pride, went on their knees to beg the Governor of the New York Stock Exchange not to move to New Jersey as was threatened. In that case not only would they forgive sins of the past, but they would forgo a transfer tax of 2 per cent. on shares and 3 per cent. on brokerage firms' gross incomes, totalling together £2,000,000 per cent.

Unable to Borrow

As things are to-day, New York is quite unable to market long-term bonds, and must pay 5½ per cent. interest for short-term borrowing. It was the inability of the city to persuade bankers to renew short-term obligations—very necessary for paying salaries of officials, also of policemen and firemen—that produced the final climax.

It was thought that the New York Stock Exchange would come along with the £2,000,000 a year for which it was asked, but the goose which has usually laid the golden eggs suddenly rebelled, and told the city to do its worst!

"If New York made things too hot for the Stock Exchange," it was stated, "the State of New Jersey—just across the river—would be delighted to receive the brokers and provide excellent accommodation at Newark." The threat terrified the City Fathers, because with the removal of the Stock Exchange would go much of the prestige and the financial personnel of a city which only a few years ago aspired to displace London as the world's financial centre.

The lines of battle are now being drawn for a fight to a finish next November between the old gang which rules the city—the Tammany machine—and a party of reform hastily organised in the effort to purify New York's administration and start a new era of city government.

Fight With Tammany.

The Tammany machine knows that the spoils are at stake, and will fight ferociously by means of its entrenched office-holders and vote-collecting agencies to retain control of the city government. The party of reform, recruited from all sections of the community, independent of politics and creed, will be well equipped for the battle. It is the belief of many that Tammany office-holders will be expelled in November by the votes of an outraged and suffering people.

A glance at the balance-sheets as disclosed by auditors reveals the gravity of the crisis.

The current city expenses, which in 1927 totalled £36,600,000, rose to £103,400,000 in 1929, in which year they exceeded income by £32,400,000. In 1919 the budget was a trifle—comparatively—of £50,000,000.

The city budget has increased constantly, and still exceeds £105,000,000 for 1934. The per capita cost has risen from £9 in 1919 to approximately £17 last year. The size of the deficit will depend upon factors which have not yet been ascertained—what economies can be made, for example. In any case it will be many millions. The debt service—the second largest item in the annual budget—exceeds £30,000,000. The interest rate on these obligations held by the bankers and the public varies from 4 per cent. to 6 per cent.

Ever since the days of Boss Tweed, whose first entrance into New York was made as a super in a travelling circus—he was the front legs of a carnival elephant—debts have piled upon debts in America's premier city.

There was an era of frenzied spending, which reached its peak in Mayor Walker's administration, when his ambition was to make the city "worthy of the great people who live in it."

More than one-half of the budget of £105,000,000 for 1934 is allotted to "personal service," meaning salaries and wages. It is suggested that remuneration ranging from £6 to £7 per week for street cleaners and £10 per week for a policeman of three years' service, with salaries proportionately extravagant for higher officials, may be reduced. It is seriously questioned whether thirty judges receiving from £4,000 to £5,000 per year really earn such emolument, albeit each must pay at least one year's salary to cover the cost of his nomination to the Bench and election by popular vote.

Graft's Big Bill.

The reformers maintain that extravagant salaries may be cut 50 per cent. without impairing the efficiency of the staff. They point to a list of 148,615 city office-holders of New York, who shared between them in 1932 no less than £73,000,000. The Civil Servants, from street cleaners to Supreme Court judges, are the trained cohorts of the Tammany organisation, who vote to a man for a Tammany government for New York, wherefore Tammany—always kind to its friends—is reluctant to reduce them.

City contracts of all kinds are a perennial source of Tammany graft. There is a classic instance of recent date, where a city hospital was built for £2,000,000—just about 80 per cent. too much! The explanation is that local "politicians" of the Tammany breed thrive on contracts for public work, and are able to put their followers to work on lucrative jobs.

In the "good years" leading to 1930 it is estimated that a sum of £60,000,000 was spent in various public works, such as court houses and other public buildings, schools, highways, sewers, and improvements in attractions to local holiday resorts, of which just about one-half was sheer extravagance and totally unnecessary except from the standpoint of Tammany contractors.

One item in the last budget which is amusing in its audacity is a charge of £120,000 to maintain a municipal garage for housing and repair of the fleet of motor-cars used by city officials, and a precisely similar charge for "the repair" of these much coddled vehicles!

Citizens Roused.

New York to-day faces a financial dilemma unexampled in its history, and the responsibility must be shared in a great part by the people who have permitted the Tammany organisation to fatten upon its resources. In years past nobody in New York, except for occasional spasms of civic pride and virtue, has ever troubled very much to snatch the control of the city from the Tammany machine.

"that filthy organisation," to quote a leading reformer, "held together only by the cohesive power of public plunder, which lives on graft and by grace of crooked corporations."

In the last few months the citizens of New York, seeing the writing on the wall, and fearing that the American metropolis may go the way of Chicago, where policemen, firemen, and public-school teachers go unpaid for months at a time, have raised the cry of reform. There is still time, they say, to save the city, but "every honest man" must fight for the cause, and "every vote is needed."

The fate of Tammany, for years at least, will be decided on November 9.

WISE & OTHERWISE

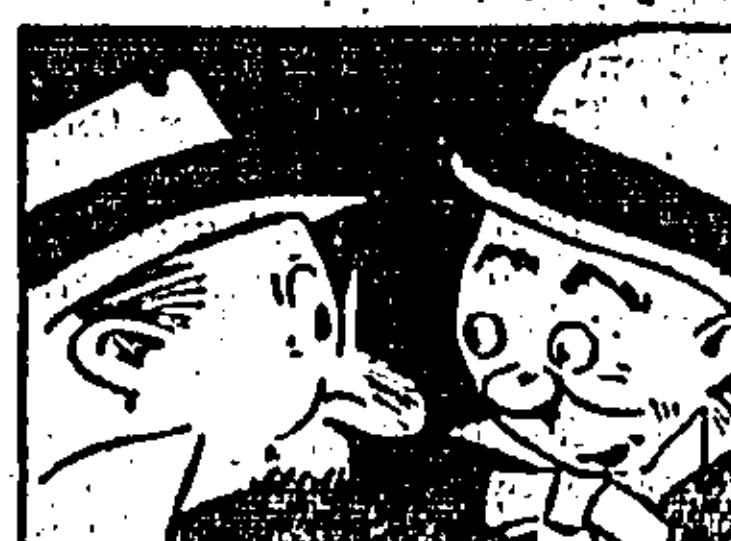

An Object Lesson.

"I strongly object to the custom of christening snips with wine," said the temperance advocate warmly.

"I most certainly don't," said his friend, with equal warmth. "Why, man, there's a temperance lesson in it!"

"I fail to see what you mean," said the first.

"It's simple," said his friend. "After the first taste of wine the ship takes to water and sticks to it."

"I hear you're building a new house. How is it coming on?"

"First rate. We've got the roof and the mortgage on, and we expect to have the furniture and the sheets in soon."

"You're the kind of a fellow who sleeps with his clothes on?"

University Student: "Of course I am. Do you think the professors would let me take 'em off in class?"

ANNOYED.

The dance band crooner who got home from work at 2 a.m. and then had to sing the baby to sleep.

DUMB.

A young woman was having her first lesson in motor driving. The expert was at some pains to make her understand the action of the brakes.

"The hand-brake," he explained, "brakes the rear wheels only, but the foot-pedal brakes all four wheels. Now, is that plain?"

"It is," answered the pupil with a trace of annoyance. "But what is owing to happen to me when all the wheels are broken?"

JUST THEIR LUCK.

In days of old
When knights were bold
And armour trousers wore,
They lived in peace
For then a crease
Would last a week or more.

SURPRISE!

A wife paid a surprise visit to her husband's office, and, creeping up behind him, put her hands over his eyes.

"Guess who it is?" she asked gleefully.

"Stop fooling," was the reply, "and get on with those letters!"

MURDER.

The constable called at a villa and rang the bell. Inside the house the piano-playing ceased and a rather scared-looking young woman appeared at the door and asked: "What do you want?"

"Well, miss," said the constable, "we've just 'ad a telephone call to say that there's a fellow, called Mozart, being murdered in this 'ere 'ouse."

SELF MADE.

"Yes, my boy, I'm a self-made man." "That's what I admire about you. You always take the blame for everything."

Looked Suspicious.

Young Jones had been to a party. The following morning he was not feeling very well.

"Well, that's that done," he said to his fellow-boarder after breakfast.

"What have you done?" asked the other.

"I've just 'phoned to the boss' private address to say I'm not well and won't be able to get to the office to-day. I wonder—if the old boy will smelly a rat?"

"Well, I shouldn't wonder," said his companion, with a quiet smile. "You see, to-day's Sunday."

occupied the centre of the room, and at one side there was a comfortable-looking bed, while easy chairs, a washstand, wardrobe, and one or two smaller tables completed the furniture.

This was obviously the "Tiger's" lair.

Geoffrey looked this door behind them and shot home the bolts on the inside, but after he had taken this precaution there seemed nothing else to do, and they flung themselves down in the well-upholstered arm-chairs. All three had so much to say, but none could speak, and each was silent with their thoughts. Geoffrey did not trust himself to look at Phyllis. Instead he started playing with the keys which Mr. Merridew had handed to him. There were three. Now, two had opened doors. What did the third open? There was no cup-board in the room with a keyhole sufficiently large to admit it. Was there another door? Anything might be hidden behind those silken hangings. He sprang to his feet and began to look.

"What are you doing?" asked Phyllis. He told her, and she at once joined him. Mr. Merridew rose to help, too, but he was obviously so worn out that Geoffrey begged him to rest.

Geoffrey pulled a curtain aside and in so doing his hand touched Phyllis's arm. Quietly he drew her unresistingly to him and whispered, "I have got to tell you, although I fear we are doomed. It is just that I worship you."

"Then I don't care what happens, so long as we are together." She put her arms around his neck and their lips met.

Was ever truth plighted under more strange or awful conditions? Phyllis was the first to return to their immediate surroundings.

"Come on, Geoffrey, we must find that door."

The words had scarcely left her lips before she cried, "why, here it is! I've found it!"

She pulled a hanging aside and disclosed a small door which was set into the side of the room. With his heart thumping against his ribs,

Geoffrey tried the key in the lock. It fitted!

He opened the door and disclosed a flight of steps.

The missionary joined them and peered into the darkness. "We must trust in God," he said, and led the way down. They had descended a dozen steps when they reached a level passage. This turned to the right, and they lost every glimmer of light from the room above.

SHAUKIWAN FIRE

Building Completely
Destroyed.

A three-storey shop and tenement building at 210 Si-wan-ho Main Street, Shaukiwai, was completely destroyed by fire which broke out shortly before midnight yesterday. No one was hurt.

The Fire Brigade were called at 11.29 p.m., and two fire-engines from Wanchai Station and another from Central, with Deputy Superintendent Fitz-Henry in charge, rushed to the scene.

Full water supply was available and within half-an-hour of their arrival the fire was under control. The Brigade, however, did not leave until two hours later.

The fire is thought to have started by a candle falling against a curtain in the joss-paper shop on the ground floor.

"MISTRESS OF ATLANTIS"

(English Version)

There are comparatively few people who have not heard or read Pierre Benoit's world-famous novel—"Atlantide". Produced in 1922 as a silent film, it was a distinct success; as an English talking picture it will reach greater heights. The introduction of sound adds more value and greater interest. The film is poignant and awe-inspiring. The direction by G. W. Pabst is really superb. He has made "MISTRESS OF ATLANTIS" a powerful film, an adventure of the Sahara, logical and probable. From the beginning to the end, it is a series of magnificent scenes created artistically and with distinction. His Antinea is enacted by Brigitte Helm, who is really admirable in this part. She is sphinx-like, mythical and mystic, with an unfathomable smile and deadly gaze. It is hard to forget her, as she walks through the gloomy passages, a leashed tiger at her side, as impenetrable as the mass of stone she is leaning against. Florelle, in a Second Empire scene, which is the climax of the picture, is excellent, and Gibb McLaughlin and John Stuart play their parts very convincingly. English dialogue is spoken throughout. Here is a picture which the director successfully brings the monotony of the eternal film plots into higher spheres, and makes it definitely worth seeing.
